Our families are one of the most important things in our lives. Researches have also proved that families play a very vital role in the success of an individual.

The first relationship children develop are with their parents. The family's influence on the children last for a lifetime in various ways. Healthy families serves towards building a strong foundation of a healthy society. During a child's premature years, they form a well fortified bond with their parents which structures the way they perceive themselves as well as others. A well built relationship between a parent and a child helps the child to develop a sense of security.

The quality of these close relationships will influence the child's ability to form and maintain relationships in adulthood. If this relationship is strong, a child will be more likely to successfully navigate and form meaningful future relationships. We, as human beings are social individuals and we are roped to connect with one another and to bloom in strong relationships. These bonds are important because family helps us get through the most tragic times as well as the best times. They can offer support and security coupled with tons of unconditional love; they will always look to see and bring out the best in you even if you cannot see it for yourself. Simply, without a good family which supports stable values and warmth, it is not possible to conceive a successful, open and kind society.

Think about this: when you are a husband, a wife, a son, a daughter, a brother, a sister, a grandma, a grandpa, uncle or aunt, you are a part of something bigger than you; you have your role and your purpose, responsibility and rights. In other words, you become a productive member of a society contributing to its development. Therefore, cherish your families, your role in them, as well as each family member individually. By doing so, you contribute to a better world for all.

MOTHER'S DAY

-PALAK RANA

A mother is first teacher and first friend of her children. She carries her child in her womb for nine months and nurtures her little one with all her heart and soul. She can decipher every gesture of her child since the time it is born. She loves her children unconditionally and guides them on the right path in life while also taking care of them and ensuring their safety in every way. Hence it becomes our duty to take care of our mothers and to respect & love them unconditionally just the way they do.

Mother's day is celebrated all around the world to make our mothers feel special and to shower all of our love for her. Though it is celebrated on the 2nd Sunday of May every year, yet, we should celebrate every single day as Mother's Day to thank our mothers, expressing our love and gratitude for them.

Maharashtra day: Celebrating the spirit of Maharashtra

-TAZEEN SHAIKH

Maharashtra Day is an annual celebration observed on May 1st to commemorate the formation of the state of Maharashtra in India. This significant day holds historical importance as it marks the culmination of the Samyukta Maharashtra movement, which fought for a separate linguistic state for Marathi-speaking people. Maharashtrians unbreakable character and sense of community are demonstrated during Maharashtra day. The celebrations on Maharashtra Day are marked by various events and activities held throughout the state. The day begins with the hoisting of the Indian national flag and the Maharashtra state flag at government offices, schools, and public places. Cultural programs, parades, and exhibitions are organized to showcase the rich cultural heritage and traditions of Maharashtra. It is a time when the people of Maharashtra come together to honour their roots, give respect to the leaders who fought for their linguistic identity, and celebrate the progress and achievements of the state.

The celebration of Maharashtra Day acts as a reminder of the perseverance and determination of the Maharashtrian people. It is a time to consider the sacrifices made during the Samyukta Maharashtra campaign and to celebrate the state's cultural variety and innovative perspective. Maharashtra Day brings people together in a spirit of togetherness and shared joy, strengthening their dedication to protect and uphold Maharashtra's rich heritage and values.

LABOUR'S DAY

-FATEMA BANDUKWALA

Labour Day, also known as International Workers' Day, is a significant holiday observed in many countries around the world on May 1st. It is a day dedicated to honoring the achievements and contributions of workers and the labor movement. Originating from the labor movement in the late 19th century, Labour Day emerged as a response to the harsh conditions and long working hours faced by workers during the Industrial Revolution. It serves as a reminder of the historical struggle for workers' rights, including the establishment of the eight-hour workday, fair wages, and safe working conditions.

Labour Day is an opportunity to recognize the value of labor in building and sustaining societies. It symbolizes the collective power of workers and their ongoing fight for better working conditions, decent pay, and social equality. It is a day to express gratitude to the individuals who contribute their skills and efforts to the progress and development of their respective nations.

This annual holiday is marked by various activities such as parades, rallies, and public demonstrations. Labor unions, workers' organizations, and activists come together to advocate for workers' rights and highlight contemporary labor issues. It serves as a platform for raising awareness about inequality, discrimination, and the need for fair and inclusive employment practices.

Labour Day also represents an occasion to reflect on the achievements made in improving labor conditions and to identify the challenges that still persist. It underscores the ongoing need for legislative reforms, social protections, and the pursuit of economic justice for workers worldwide.

In summary, Labour Day is a momentous occasion to celebrate the contributions of workers and to reaffirm the significance of labor rights and social justice. It serves as a reminder that the progress and well-being of societies depend on the fair treatment and empowerment of those who toil to make a difference.

EL CLÁSICO

BARÇA OR MADRID ?
WHAT IT IS FOR YOU ?

-BILAL SHAIKH

El Clásico is the name given to the football match between two of the biggest clubs in the world, FC Barcelona and Real Madrid. It is considered as one of the most highly anticipated matches in the world of football. The rivalry dates back to the early 20th century. The rivalry has produced some memorable moments, iconic players, and heated controversies throughout the years. The rivalry did not wane over the decades, and in general the games remained evenly matched. That did not prevent some more comprehensive results between Barça and Real Madrid, however. Some such Barça wins helped coin a very famous term that is used today: 'La Manita,' or 5 goals against the eternal rivals.

It is not only a clash of football teams but also a confrontation between different ideologies, traditions, and playing styles. Barcelona is known for its possession-based and attacking style of play, while Real Madrid is often associated with a more direct and counter-attacking approach.

What if cell phones weren't invented ??

-AKSHAT PATIL

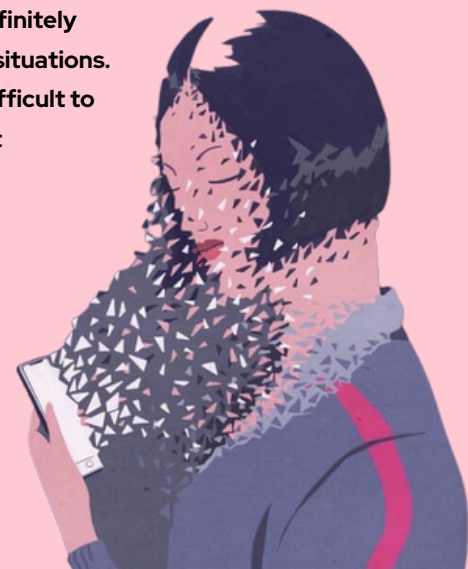

The biggest game changer in communication history was undoubtedly the mobile phone. The invention made transfer of messages easier and faster than ever. Apart from communication, phones went on to become a huge source of entertainment. The transition from keypad phones to smartphones led to the addition of top features apart from games.

Well, ever wondered what our lives would have been without mobile phones?

The absence of mobile phones from our lives could have been tragic. Communication would've been limited upto letters only. Television ratings would've broken records without the presence of mobile phones which certainly provide flexible viewing. The emergence of E-Sports, which is currently trending as a profession, wouldn't have taken place. Photography could've been the rarest and most expensive profession without mobile phones. In such a busy world, we love video calling sessions and long distance relations couldn't be imagined without phones. Sports enthusiasts and film lovers won't imagine lives without mobiles. People wouldn't have been able to find out their long lost love without mobiles. The absence wouldn't have maintained the connection and communication which we currently live with.

Humans now tend to panic after finding one pocket empty fearing the absence of mobiles.

People spend heavily on mobile phones which can definitely be a waste in certain situations. Hence, it would be difficult to imagine lives without mobile phones.
