Life at L. S. Raheja College

Autonomy to L. S. Raheja College of Arts & Commerce (Autonomous)

The UGC document on the XI Plan profile of higher education in India clearly states that “Colleges with academic and operative freedom are doing better and have more credibility.” Active involvement of students, teachers, and management in raising the quality of higher education makes it imperative that they share a major responsibility. College autonomy is therefore seen as a tool for encouraging academic success.

Under autonomy, L. S. RAHEJA COLLEGE OF ARTS AND COMMERCE (AUTONOMOUS) has the freedom to:

- Determine and prescribe its own courses of study and syllabi, and restructure and redesign the courses to suit industrial expectations;
- Prescribe rules for admission in consonance with the reservation policy of the state government;
- Design methods of assessment of students’ performance, to conduct examinations and declare results;
- Use modern tools of educational technology to achieve higher standards and greater creativity, and
- Promote healthy practices such as community service, extension activities, projects for the benefit of society at large, neighbourhood programmes, etc.

In order to stimulate innovation, improve academic quality, and establish institutional excellence, our college has been granted autonomy starting in the 2024-2025 academic year. We aim to tailor the curriculum to meet the evolving needs of our students as per industry expectations, thereby making them more relevant and employable.

We believe in encouraging our teachers to experiment with new teaching methodologies and research initiatives. We see autonomy as an empowering tool that will enhance institutional efficiency, motivate faculty and staff to strive for excellence, thereby enabling the meritorious academic achievements.
